Lakeway Learning Center, Willow Room

Present: Meldene Goehring, Joseph Lawrence, Anne Ochs, Larry Steiger, Kirby Eisenhauer, Dave Bartlett, Chad Bourgeois, Lindy Watt, Dana Lyman, Brad Gregorich, Dane Weaver, Jenni Gilson, Eric Stremcha, Bertine Bahige, Derek Barnhurst, Rory Williams, Jodi Wilson, Brandee Maurer, Nate Cassidy, Travis Heitmann, Brian Brandon, Troy Claycomb, Adam Miller, Mike Daniel, Kelly Morehead, Melanie Sylte, Lonnie Robertson, and Tracy Peterson. Rollo Williams and Lisa Durgin were absent.

Also attending: Cassia Catterall

Mr. Eisenhauer opened the retreat/workshop with a welcome to the group. He provided an outline of the information that would be presented, including information regarding Professional Learning Communities (PLCs), and the second half of the retreat would include participating in small groups with building principals.

Twin Spruce Junior High Principal Dana Lyman, Campbell County High School Principal Chad Bourgeois, Meadowlark Elementary and Little Powder Elementary Principal Lindy Watt, Hillcrest Elementary Principal Brad Gregorich, and Rawhide Elementary and Recluse Elementary Principal Dane Weaver shared with the group that being a professional learning community is a never-ending process in which educators commit to working together to ensure higher levels of learning for every student. It is a lifetime learner mindset and a collaborative culture. They provided information on instructional cycles and how data is analyzed and looked at collaboratively to assist with student needs.

The retreat/workshop attendees formed small groups, and building principals reported individual school information to their assigned board members.

The meeting adjourned at 3:30 PM with no action taken by the board.
